Thus, we conclude that all the unpleasant experiences with which we meet in the upward way must be for the sake of eliminating 171 something of self and of conforming us more to the divine image. We do not meet them simply because they are in the way, but they are in the way because we need them. Hence the best way to meet all such things is to bring them quickly to Father, not inquiring impatiently, Why must I suffer so but rather: What is there in my nature that makes this suffering necessary What is it that thou art endeavoring to do for me And how may I conduct myself so as to receive the benefit TESTS IN EARLY CHRISTIAN LIFE Happy is the child of God who can say that from the day of his conversion he has never sinned nor grieved the Spirit of God. Such, however, has not been the experience of the writer. For several years I was plunged, sometimes within the space of a few hours, from...
